

Central Arizona Estate Planning Council

This council has been active since the 1960's, and the camaraderie, continuing education and knowledge sharing culture is very strong. The growth of the Valley of the Sun, and the resultant growth in our chapter, means our monthly dinners are great places to see the people you already know, but might be difficult to meet new people. The volume alone can be overwhelming, not to mention the wealth of knowledge and vast array of personalities in the room.

In an effort to help new planners and new members find common ground with other members, and to help long standing members and planners remember things about each other they had long ago forgotten, please take a moment to fill in this brief member survey. You can return the survey via fax to 480-922-5283 or return it with your application. You may be surprised at how much you didn't know about your fellow estate planners. This information will not be published anywhere, and you can choose to participate or not.

The most likely use? Somehow integrated into the meetings...for example, at the member banquet, if the current president is a UofA grad, don't be surprised if all UofA grads get to go through the banquet line first. If ASU is playing in a championship, we might get the Phoenix Country Club to use ASU colors in setting the table. Our holiday entertainment this year is a comedian/magician...he may just pull your pet out of his hat! The idea is simply to find fun and easy ways for our members to learn more about each other and enjoy the full value of their membership.
